

MONOTONOUS COUNTER USING MEMORY CELLS

ABSTRACT

- 5 A monotonous counter formed as an integrated circuit, each counting bit being provided by a memory cell containing at least one memorization element formed of a polysilicon resistor, programmable by irreversible decrease in its value.